Assigned Readings:

1. Bulk Pack: The substantive readings are contained in a photocopied, bound "bulk pack" of readings available from Wharton Reprographics, located on the basement level of Steinberg Hall – Dietrich Hall. Please ask for the bulk pack by the course name and the professor's name, as it is specific to this section. Additional handouts may be given out in class during the semester, and charged to each student's account. Please note: you must purchase this semester's bulk pack to take the course. Please do not rely on bulk packs from years past.
2. Slides: At the end of the Bulk Pack you will find some of the slides I will use in class. The slides will also be posted on WebCafé prior to class
3. Selections for Contracts: (Foundation Press). This book may be purchased at the Penn bookstore and contains statutes we will be using in the second part of the course, dealing with contracts. However, you must purchase this book now. These books may not be available later in the semester and you will be at a severe disadvantage if you don't have your own copy.
4. Cases: Please bring the assigned cases to class, as we will refer to them during class discussion, and you will need to have them with you. You do not need to bring other assigned readings to class. During the second half of the course (Contracts), you will also need to bring the pamphlet Selections for Contracts to class, in addition to the assigned cases.

You should complete the assigned readings before the class, especially the assigned cases, since lectures and discussions proceed on the assumption that you have done so.

Your class participation grade will in part depend on your preparation. At some point during the semester I will be calling on you randomly to discuss the assigned cases, and you should come to class prepared to do so. Make sure before you commit to this Legal Studies 101 Section that your schedule will permit you to fulfill this class requirement.

Class Requirements:

1. Tests

There will be two in-class examinations. The first examination will be closed book. The second will allow you to use your Selection for Contracts pamphlet.

The first exam will take place during class on October 25, 2006. It will be part multiple choice and part short answer. It will cover all material discussed in class prior to October 25, 2006.

The second exam will take place during class on December 6, 2006. It will also be part multiple choice and part short answer. It will not be cumulative so it will cover all material discussed in class between October 30, 2006 and December 4, 2006.

The first examination will count for forty (40) percent of your grade. The second examination will count for forty (40) percent of your grade.

Please make sure now, before you commit to this course and section, that you have no conflicts with these dates. Please, therefore, check your Christmas travel plans; interview schedule; extracurricular events [plays, concerts]; family events [reunions, weddings, bar/bat mitzvahs]; and get a flu shot. There will not be a makeup for either examination. [For all exams: If a topic has not been covered in class, it will not be on the exam.]

2. Contract Simulation

On November 13, 2006, I will hand out a contract simulation problem. This problem will be done in small groups of 5. You may form your own small group and submit the names to me anytime on or before November 8, 2006. If you have not done so by that date, I will assign you randomly to a small group. Each group will be responsible for negotiating and drafting a 5-page written contract based on a set of given facts. This group problem will receive a group grade, which will count for 15% of your individual grade. The final written contract will be due on December 13, 2006 at 12:00 NOON. in my mailbox on the 5th floor of JMHH in the Legal Studies Department.

3. Jury Simulation:

At a time to be announced, you will be required to attend and participate in a jury simulation in the cause of which you will “serve” as a jury panel member.

4. Class Participation

Informed class participation will count for 5% of the grade. As noted, I may call on students at random to discuss assigned cases, and this will be a part of your class participation grade. Attendance is not part of your class participation grade.

5. Grading

Wharton requires that grades be on a curve.

6. Schedule

Jewish Holidays – Happily, the Jewish Holidays have no impact this year on class schedule.

7. Dropping the Course

If you decide to drop the course, you must do so before the first examination.

8. Topics: Following is a list of topics that we will cover in class, and the readings associated with them. You will notice that there are no dates associated with the topics. This is deliberate. Some of the topics take several weeks to cover; some take only a day. Moreover, class discussion can make some topics longer and or shorter. However, the topics and cases are listed in the order in which they will be covered in class. If you simply check off the topics and cases covered, as we go, you will know exactly where we are. In addition, I will make announcements both in class and via e-mail as to what we will cover in the forthcoming week. You should guide your class preparation accordingly.
