Summary: This course aims to provide the future global manager the knowledge on policies set by central banks, regulators and governments to reach the goals of price and financial stability. The core of the course connects between the formal and actual goals that central banks follow and the related economic analysis on which the goals and the policies are set. We will explain the economic rationale for the policy prescriptions to reach the goals and how these are implemented using institutional framework in the US, the EU, Israel and other countries. In addition, we shall study the role of central banks and regulators in providing policies for financial stability and interaction between the current debt crisis in the Euro area and financial stability. The course will use data, current events and events of the 2007-2012 financial crisis as a basis for discussion and assignments that aim at understanding how and why the Federal Reserve of the US (the Fed) and the European Central Bank (ECB) set their policies and how that is related to academic research on these subjects.

Requirements: Final examinations (60% - passing grade is required) and four assignments done by teams of 3-4 students (40%).

References: Use one textbook as well as additional books, reports and analysis that were recently published on each of the topics.
