COURSE DESCRIPTION

Introduction to Macroeconomics and The Global Economic Environment is a half-semester intermediate-level course in macroeconomics, with an emphasis on current events and policy applications. It is an abbreviated version of the full-semester course FNCE 6130 and is intended for non-finance majors. The purpose of this course is to provide an overview of the global economic and financial environment in which business and financial decisions are made. Key topics include national income accounting, production and economic growth, employment and the labor market, consumption, investment, business cycles, monetary and fiscal policy, and international trade and finance.

COURSE MATERIAL

Canvas
The Canvas website contains the syllabus, lecture notes, quizzes, teaching assistants’ office hours, regrade request forms, and other useful information. Canvas is also a useful hub to start and participate in course-related discussions. Please note that all materials posted on Canvas are copyrighted.

Reading Material
The bulk of the course material comes from the lecture notes and course readings. The lecture notes are available on Canvas. Most course readings come from The Economist, The Financial Times, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, Federal Reserve Banks’ and Brookings Institute publications. They are hyperlinked to web sources from within the syllabus and available on Canvas via the Tab @Penn Libraries.

I will build many of the course concepts on current events. As such, you should keep current with economic news throughout the semester. A subscription to The Economist, The Financial Times, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal or a close substitute is recommended. Selected articles from these sources may be added to the list of required readings later during the semester.

There is no required textbook for this course. However, you will see references to sections of Macroeconomics (tenth edition) from Andrew B. Abel, Ben S. Bernanke and Dean Croushore, Addison-Wesley, 2020 (referred to as ABC) and Macroeconomics (fifth edition) from Charles I. Jones, Norton, 2021 (referred to as Jones) in the course outline section below. These are supplemental, but strongly recommended, readings that supplement our class discussions.
GRADING

Grades are based on an exam (75%), three quizzes (10%), attendance (10%), and class participation (5%). Class participation depends on coming to class focused and prepared, on your overall involvement in the lectures, and on your respectful and meaningful participation in class discussions.

This course uses the Wharton Attendance and Video Requests Application. Each class attendance merits one point, for a maximum of 10 points. Attendance is an important aspect of the Wharton commitment. Wharton students are admitted in part because of the experiences they bring to the community and what they can add to class discussions. Without attending, learning as a collaborative process cannot exist. Accordingly, absences are only appropriate in cases of personal emergency. In addition, late arrival is disruptive to the learning environment and promptness is expected.

Examination

The exam is on Tuesday, February 28, 2023, 7:00-9:00pm. The exam is an in-person exam administered as a quiz on Canvas. It is comprehensive, and closed book. However, you may have one single-sided 8.5” x 11” page of handwritten notes for the exam. This handwritten page can only contain your own notes in your own handwriting—and may not contain large portions of reproduced notes or any other course materials such as slides, solution manuals or answer keys. Calculators are permitted. All students must adhere to the Code of Academic Integrity. The exam can be rescheduled only if required by university policy and only during the official make-up period.

Regrade requests

Regrade requests must be submitted using the regrade request form and the statement of honesty posted on Canvas and must be accompanied by your exam. Requests must be submitted within one week from the date the exam grades are released. For any request, the entire exam will be regraded.

Quizzes

There will be three quizzes available on Canvas. The quizzes are designed to reinforce key concepts from the classes and to help you prepare for the exam. Your quizzes grade will be the average of your best two quizzes. You can work on quizzes with other students, but you must submit your answers individually. Due dates are indicated in the table below and under the course outline section of this syllabus. The quizzes must be submitted by 9:00am on the due date. Quizzes will not be accepted late and no regrade requests will be entertained. Answers to quizzes will be posted on Canvas shortly after the due date.
